Auto Driver In Fosnaught Case Is Not Located

Mystery still surrounds the death of Frederick Fosnaught, 54 of Chewton who was killed by a hit-skip driver on the Chewton-Wurtemburg ash road near the Wesley McMillen farm one quarter of a mile south-east of Chewton Sunday night. Governor Orville Potter, Constable Raymond Talley of Wampum and State Patrolman Sarko are co-ordinating their efforts in an attempt to solve the mystery but thus far have made no headway. The young man who notified the McMillens of the fact that Mr. Fosnaught was lying along the roadside in a precarious condition, has not yet been located and in the excitement of the moment no one thought to get his name. He is being sought for questioning.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New was a little alarmed yesterday when he saw four big husky men going down Mercer street, armed with a double-bitted ax apiece. However, it developed they were enroute to the Rescue Mission woodpile, and were going to do a little wood chopping.

Pa New finds that "Straw Hat Day" brought the straws out in rapid style, and yesterday and today helped it along. It didn't take long for these white sport outfits to make their appearance either.

Saturday of this week marks the fifth anniversary of Charles A. Lindbergh's spectacular flight over the Atlantic to Paris.

Complaints are still being heard about dogs running at large and damaging gardens about the city.

Evidence of activity on the part of State Highway Department workmen is to be seen on practically all of the state highways in this section. Gutters are being cleared and the roadways gradually widened.

Many more homes are being converted into tourist stop-over places (Continued on Page Two)

Former County Auditor Assumes Duties After Completing Audit Of 1931

Former County Auditor Scott Kildoo of Princeton has been appointed deputy controller by Controller R. C. McCaslin. Mr. Kildoo is thoroughly familiar with the county's business, having served as county auditor for six years. He and former Auditor William J. NO IDENTITY AS YET FOR SLAIN MAN FOUND ON R. R. TRACKS HERE

Despite a most thorough autopsy of the body of the man found on the P. & L. E. tracks between West Pittsburgh and New Castle Junction, none of the six bullets fired into his body was found Monday afternoon. The body was dissected in an effort to determine what caliber of bullet killed him but apparently they had gone through him. No identification of him has been made as yet. Constable Walter Bannan of West Pittsburgh is certain that he is not a native of that section of the county and apparently the man will go to his grave in Pottery's Field, unknown, and another unsolved murder mystery will have been added to Lawrence County.

School Executives Meet Here To Complete Plans For Convention District

Between thirty and forty school executives of Western Pennsylvania are meeting today in the Administration Building on East street for the purpose of furthering plans for the formation of a new convention district of the Pennsylvania State Teachers Association.

For district convention purposes the P. S. E. A. has assigned several convention districts for the western part of the state, one, the Southwestern Convention district which meets in Pittsburgh, another, the Northwestern convention district which meets in Erie or some other city of the northwest.

The counties of Lawrence, Beaver, Butler, Mercer, Venango, Armstrong, Clarion and Jefferson are not conveniently located for either of these districts and a movement has been launched to form a new convention district with New Castle as the probable meeting place.

This would bring 1500 to 2000 teachers and school officials to New Castle each year. The Cathedral would be an excellent meeting place, the hotel facilities are good, and automobile roads make the city easy of access.

STILL DEBATING
INCOME TAX RATES

Congress Not Likely To Be Able To Adjourn By June 10

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 17.—After hurdling the first series of attacks on their compromise income tax rates, the senate non-partisan tax coalition today neared a showdown on the question of legalizing 4 per cent beer.

The proposal of Senator Bingham (R) of Connecticut, to legalize beer, thus making it taxable at $6 a barrel, would bring in $375,000,000 a year revenue as a substitute for numerous other taxes. He specifically suggested a reduction in income taxes to the house rates, a slash in automobile and lubricating oil levies and complete elimination of the postal rate increase, the amusement, radio, phonograph and communication taxes.

Hope To Retain Rates
The coalition, led by Senators Smoot (R) of Utah, and Harrison (D) of Mississippi, was seeking to retain the committee rates unchanged. A comparison of the different rates follows:

Ultimatum By Army Council Facing Japan

Political Leaders May Not Submit To Domination By Military Factions

ARMY COUNCIL SEEKS TO CONTROL ACTION

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, May 17.—A vigorous statement indicating Japanese political leaders may not blindly submit to domination by military factions was issued here today by Baron Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier and leader of the minseitō (opposition) party. "The government," Baron Wakatsuki declared, "must reject attempts to influence the will of the people by brutal force."

Wakatsuki's statement followed by several hours the virtual ultimatum by the army council that none of its members would accept the office of minister of war in the new cabinet unless a national government is formed.

Army Council Ultimatum
Tokyo, May 17.—The army council today resolved that none of its members would accept the office of war minister in the new Japanese cabinet unless a national government is formed.

The decision was in effect an ultimatum, since the construction of Japan provides that the minister of war must be chosen from the generals of the army.

The action of the army leaders dashed the fast-crystallizing hopes of Seiyukai party leaders that a coalition government could be formed under Kishiburo Suzuki, home minister in a present cabinet who early today accepted the presidency of the Seiyukai party.

"We Hope To Fly Over And Beyond Pole," Says Intrepid American Explorer

This is the first of a series of two articles concerning Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's preparations for a new dash to the South Pole.

By GENE K. LORICK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BOSTON, May 17.—Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, who has defied death by flying over the treacherous ice wastes of the North and South Poles, intends making a second dash over the South Pole—and perhaps beyond.

He revealed this exclusively to International News Service today while discussing preparations for his return to Little America in the South Polar region, 2,300 miles from the nearest habitation.

Over And Beyond
"We will fly over the South Pole again and possibly beyond," said this quiet-spoken adventurer.

Beside the continuation of the scientific work started before, there is one thing in particular which Byrd wants to prove to his own satisfaction. This is whether or not the South Polar region is a continent, or two continents.

Up on the Cathedral grounds, high above the street, a swarm of bees has taken up a hive in one of the boxes which was originally placed there for the squirrels which live in the grove of maples east of the Cathedral building.

According to residents living in that vicinity, the bees have wintered there, having taken up their abode in the squirrels' box last spring. Whether they were preparing to swarm or not is not known, but at any rate about half the swarm was gathered on the outside of the box last evening.

NEW YORK, May 17.—An inquiry into the futile negotiations between Dr. John F. Condon (Jafsie) and five men who said they had the Lindbergh baby, got under way this morning, with the appearance of Colonel Henry Breckenridge before the Bronx grand jury.

Colonel Breckenridge, confidential adviser of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, whose baby was found dead four and a half miles from his home, was the first witness at the first legal action which has resulted from the Lindbergh tragedy.

The jury will determine whether or not indictments should be handed down against the five men, who may be killers, kidnapers, or merely clever opportunists.

Dr. Condon himself was in court as the procedure began. With him was a brief case full of papers, including letters from the supposed kidnapers which convinced the Fordham professor that he should hand over $50,000 of Colonel Lindbergh's money to them. Al Reich, (Continued on Page Seventeen)

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 17.—The Senate slept on the tax bill over the week-end. But the birds that are going to have to pay it didn't sleep any.

Some senators say that no man should be allowed to earn over $75,000 a year. They forget that a man that earns that much or more works for a different kind of an employer from the one senators work for.

Suppose you got $100,000 a year for working for a firm and you spent two hundred billion of their money that you didn't have and didn't know where you was going to get it, how long would you be working for that firm?

Yours,

Will Rogers.

POLICE AFTER DOGS SAYS MAYOR

Says Canines Must Be Tied

Will Not Tolerate Dogs Running At Large Inside City

GARDENS WILL BE PROTECTED

"Police are killing dogs every day and canines which wear licenses and run at large are 'incarcerated' until their owners recover them," said Charles B. Mayne today in reply to a question as to when the dog killing campaign would start.

Some weeks ago the mayor declared that gardens are more valuable than dogs which run at large and issued a strong warning to the effect that dogs running at large would be killed by police. Some dog owners apparently have not heeded the warning as yet.

There is not one section of the city where there are no gardens and gardeners dislike to have dogs tramping over gardens, often with ruinous results, hence all dog owners should keep their dogs on a "wire run."

Two Lighthouse Keepers Found Murder Victims

Chinese Bandits Are Blamed For Deaths Of Englishman And Russian, Ransom Demanded

(International News Service) SHANGHAI, May 17.—The bullet-riddled bodies of two lighthouse keepers, kidnapped and held for ransom by Chinese communists near Amoy, were discovered by the coast inspector today.

One was an Englishman named Edwards and the other a Russian, Andreanov.

The two men were abducted from Breaker Point Feb. 27. They apparently had been killed the following month, the bandits continuing ransom negotiations after their murder.

The British authorities had exerted the utmost pressure to obtain the release of Edwards, sending warships to patrol the Amoy district but to no avail.

Mission Call For Furniture Heard

Superintendent's Appeal Today Asks New Donations; Shop Kept Busy

There's a buzz that roars out an alley shop downtown, and the louder the buzz gets the sooner some overhauled piece of donated furniture will find its way into the home of some worthy and needy family.

Located to the rear of the Knights of Columbus building, North Jefferson street, is a workshop maintained partly by the City Rescue Mission to make renovations to beds, chairs, tables and other odd lots of furniture that generous residents kindly donate. Every article given is handled by skilled workmen for the mission and Superintendent B. J. Watkins is the one who distributes it.

Mr. Watkins made a new appeal for old furniture today. By calling the mission, 430, a truck will be dispatched and the donation collected.

Miss Carrie Bleakley Is Injured In Accident On North Street

OTHER ACCIDENTS ON LOCAL STREETS

Miss Carrie Bleakley, 222 East Lincoln avenue, sustained a severe but not serious injury of the left leg about noon today, on North street, in front of the Temple Building, as she was in the act of crossing North street, between two parked cars.

Henry Wyman of 702 Chestnut street, was driving the car of H. R. Dadds, R. D. No. 2 west on East North street, when the steering apparatus of the car broke and his machine hit the left fender of the car of Dr. J. R. Cooper, which was parked in front of the Temple Building.

Miss Bleakley had just stepped between the Cooper and another car parked in front of it in the act of crossing the street, when this happened and she was struck by the Cooper car as the Dadds machine hit it. Both cars were damaged.

F. C. Conner of 422 Fairmont avenue, was enroute west on East Long avenue near Cunningham avenue, Monday, when a boy named Richard Rennie, aged 5, and another boy started to run across the street in front of the Conner machine. The car hit the Rennie boy and knocked him down. Mr. Conner took the boy to a physician. He had a bump on the head but was otherwise apparently uninjured.

J. W. Unangst of 412 West Madison avenue, was enroute north on Lafayette street just south of the Baltimore and Ohio overhead bridge Monday, when a boy named Buddy Conti, aged 7, of Wabash avenue, ran out into the street in front of his machine and was knocked to the street. Mr. Unangst took the injured boy to the New Castle hospital, where it was found that he had suffered a rupture of a blood vessel in the brain, besides a bad cut on the head, and various body bruises. The condition of the boy is serious and it will be several days before the result of the injury can be determined, although his condition was improved slightly today.

ALBERT CONTI IS REPORTED MISSING

Miss Margaret Conti, of 106 West Wabash avenue, has asked the assistance of the police in locating her brother, Albert Conti, aged 17 who has been missing from his home since Saturday. He was accompanied by another boy named Tony Massone.

The missing Conti boy is described as weighing 145 to 150 pounds, being five feet six inches in height, light complexioned, curly haired, and wearing a dark blue serge suit, green sweater, and black low cut shoes.

REAR ADMIRAL BYRD PLANS TO FLY OVER VAST POLAR REGION

I am sure, he said. "By flying over the mountains we could see the jagged rock and barren, frozen sea."

"We plan to go back to Little America, and to the biggest piece of unexplored territory left in the world."

"It may be two continents down there. Generally speaking, we believe that one of them is as large as this country and the other about the size of Australia."

The noted explorer is anxious to be off but, he admitted, just how soon that will be, he does not know himself.

Completing Data
"We're still in the thick of completing the scientific data I gathered before, and until that is finished, there will be no telling just when the second expedition will start," he said.

The second expedition will consist of from 30 to 35 men, Byrd said, ninety per cent made up of the men he had followed Byrd into the frozen Southland on the first. There will be 150 sled dogs, fifty more than before, and only one vessel, the former Revenue Cutter, Bear, which Byrd purchased at Oakland, California, for $1050. The first expedition included four ships, three airplanes, and fifty five men.

The Bear will leave the Pacific coast about the first of June, and will be brought to the Charleston Navy Yard for complete reconditioning and outfitting.

To Camp At Pole
About ten various branches of sciences will be followed by Byrd's discoveries on his second great adventure. The most important, he believes, will be that contributed to weather observation.

Revealed that he plans to establish an observation station in the shadow of the South Pole. Two members of the party will be stationed there for several months, making observations of the terrific winds and frigid weather where the mercury drops to 90 degrees below zero.

Sledge dogs and airplanes will be used to transport the men and supplies to the bleak spot near the Pole, which is itself many hundreds of miles from the tiny city buried in the ice at Little America.

The three planes, including the big tri-motored monoplane used on the first flight over the South Pole, remain at Little America. Rear Admiral Byrd intends taking along a new airplane, and maybe two. He said he has not decided yet just what make of plane it will be, or how many motors it will have.

7 per cent; Senate bill 3, 6 and 9 per cent.

Surtaxes—Up to 20 per cent up to 40 per cent up to 45 per cent.

In each case, the lowest normal rate applies to the first $4,000, the second to the next $4,000 and the highest rate to all income in excess of $8,000. The present surtax begins at $10,000 and its maximum takes effect on incomes in excess of $100,000. The house bill made the surtax apply at $6,000 and the maximum would take effect on incomes in excess of $1,000,000.

The Republican leadership of the senate measure told house leaders they "would probably be unable to adjourn congress by June 10." This was the fear expressed by Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, to Speaker Garner and Rep. Snell, Republican leader in the house. Watson pointed out that but 22 legislative days remain before June 10 and that a tax bill, economy bill, unemployment relief bill and ten appropriation bills must be enacted before adjournment.

Long Attacks Mills
The first night session was held last night but nothing was accomplished owing to a two and a half hour attack on Secretary of the Treasury Mills by Senator Long, insurgent Democrat of Louisiana.

Long charged the senate finance committee had virtually re-written the tax bill in 30 minutes at the request of Mills.

His speech blocked a vote on another amendment to the income tax rates. Sponsored by Senator Connally (D) of Texas, this amendment would restore the 1922 rates of six and twelve per cent on normal incomes and a maximum surtax rate of 65 per cent. A vote on this amendment is expected today.

Correct this sentence: "So I tried one on a front wheel," said the man, "and got as much mileage as the manufacturers did in their much-advertised experiment."

Mrs. Owens' Funeral.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Pauline Owens of 715 Arlington avenue, were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, with Rev. Charles Warren Johnstone, pastor of the Central Christian church in charge.

Two selections were sung during the services by a quartet consisting of Miss Frances Gibson, Mrs. Margaret Davis, Roy Strobel and Thomas Phelps, the selections sung being "Asleep In Jesus" and "Beautiful Garden of Eden."

The services were very largely attended and the floral offerings were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were Samuel Love, Fred Cosel, Francis Ayers, Arthur Owens, William Mort and Paul Houston. Interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

SECRETARY WILBUR STIRS WOMEN WITH TALK ON CHILDREN

form to controvert the speaker. He stood firm. A symposium of his statements follows:

"With prosperity many parents unload responsibilities for their children on others, with adversity the home takes its more normal place.

Children Far Better

"The reduced mortality rate for infants and for children does not harmonize with dire prophecies of those inclined to see both 'blue' and 'red' in the present situation.

"Interest of thousands of keen, well-trained people in seeing our children are properly fed and cared for has given many children better and more suitable food than in past good times.

"My diagnosis is that our present civilization is broken out with the hives. They irritate and bother us, they show us we need some changes in our physical organization. But they are not evidence of a fatal or fundamental weakness."

He concluded:

"If this emergency teaches us there is no possible method of replacing the family and the home, that our economic and social scheme should include those factors that will do the most for the home, it will be worth the price.

"Home means so much. Yet it is a hideous hole for millions of children. Low prices favor the effort to blot out slums and transitional areas."

As a fitting close to a most successful club year, members of the Current Events of '23 entertained at a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon Monday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. W. H. Shipley, 312 Highland avenue.

It was announced that in the blind work, in which this group played a featured part, the members sold 220 towels. Other items of equal interest were listed also.

This brought their club year to a close, until September when they will again resume their regular sessions.

WARNING ON ATHLETIC OVER ENTHUSIASM

NOW that the alluring spring weather is here, it perhaps may not be amiss to inject a cautionary note regarding athletic over-enthusiasm. This idea is based upon the sad case of a hibernating gentleman of fifty-three whose exercise for the past seven months, until a week ago, was limited to stepping into his automobile and climbing a flight of stairs each night. Under the spell of spring's seduction, plus the urge to loosen his pent-up desire for fun, this man drove to the club, played three sets of vigorous tennis and collapsed on the way to the locker room. There is a lesson in this story," states Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"This just-as-young-as-I-used-to-be idea for persons over forty-five is a dangerous attitude to assume, especially where athletics are concerned. One may feel as young as he did when he was twenty, but the body knows better. Intelligence, knowledge and judgment are on an upward scale as the years go by, but not so the body structures.

"Consequently, anyone of middle age or older who feels the desire for outdoor sport should in the first place choose one geared to his age; and in the second place, keep his enthusiasm well within bounds.

"As a general principle, tennis, baseball, strenuous swimming and other forms of violent exercise should be avoided by the average older. A sideline position, however much a blow to his conceit, is the better place in these recreations. He may not thoroughly appreciate it but his heart and the rest of his physiological economy most certainly will.

"And even when engaged in athletic recreation of more moderate character, restraint should be employed. People can have died on golf courses because the thrill of the game so intoxicated them that they did not know when to stop playing. Undoubtedly the spring offers many tempting opportunities to build up health and strength, both of which are likely to be at a comparatively low ebb from the winter's coddling. But it is poor business indeed to attempt to make up in one afternoon of strenuous exercise, unsuited to one's age, the deficiencies of a whole winter's season.

"Therefore, choose your sport with care. And then both play and act your age. Do not stampede the proposition. It cannot safely be done."

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN OF THE NATION

One of the echoes of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection comes in the announcement that 5,630,000 children in this country are handicapped in one way or another. It is estimated that 35,000,000, or seven-ninths of the child population, are "reasonably normal." 1,500,000 are reported as "specially gifted." Millions have impaired hearing; others are totally deaf, have defective speech, weak or damaged hearts, are mentally retarded, crippled or are partly or wholly blind. Some of these are hopeless, but the great majority are most promising if they are taken in hand now instead of permitting them eventually to become charges on the community.

The conference recommendations said among other things: "It is unquestionably better policy to spend more money today in helping the handicapped child to help himself than it is to spend many times as much tomorrow in supporting him at public expense. It is sound public policy, not charity, to provide special treatment and training for all types of exceptional children. The education of the crippled child is not philanthropy—it is enlightened self-interest." It is significant that 1,000,000 school children between the ages of five and eight are so defective in speech that they require remedial treatment and training. Yet only 60,000 of them are receiving it at present. The 1,000,000 children who have weak or damaged hearts include 375,000 with serious heart troubles. Where there is early discovery, treatment and training a large percentage of these children become normal in the course of a few years.

The importance of helping the handicapped cannot be too strongly emphasized. If they continue to be neglected we must pay the penalty in one way or another. The need for such help and special training is evidenced by the 500,000 individuals found in prisons, hospitals for mental diseases, almshouses and institutions for the feeble-minded. The committee, in its report to the White House Conference, says of this half million: "They are largely the driftwood which has not been detected in the schoolroom and wisely trained."

THE CHALLENGE

America is not crying for vengeance for the fiendish murder of Baby Lindbergh. It demands justice and protection. Let famed Jersey justice live up to its reputation.

This is no time for hysteria, mob violence or drumhead court martial. Rather it is the occasion for the law to rise to its full majesty to bring the perpetrators of this inhuman crime to trial and punishment. The police can vindicate themselves for their failure to find the pitifully broken little body by going about seriously and systematically to detect and apprehend the guilty. The courts can be depended upon to do the rest.

Society will not be content until justice has been done. Nor will any mother rest easy until the kidnappers and slayers have been jailed. The shock of the discovery of the battered skeleton is intensified by the fear of a repetition of the heinous crime.

During the weeks that elapsed between the time of the child's disappearance and the finding of the body, the world had lived in the hope that it would be restored to its parents' arms. Yet the feeling grew as the weeks passed that it would never again be seen alive.

Nothing can wipe this stain from the escutcheon of civilized man. It will forever remain there as proof that the civilization of man was not complete in the year 1932, that even among human beings there live brutal savages.

Fishermen are not the laziest men. Some men are too lazy to fish.

No news is good news, except to the college student who is looking for a check from home.

Many supposedly erudite gentlemen are merely persons who have nothing to say and never say it.

How to Get on a High Horse
How to Ride Him
How to Get Off Again

By MARSHALL MASLIN

It's easy to get on a High Horse. You're grouchy, you don't feel so well today, you're sensitive. Somebody hurts your feelings. There's your snorting High Horse right in front of you. His eyes flash, his fine coat shines, his long tail switches in anger. You step right up, put your foot in the stirrup, throw yourself into the saddle, snore politely, stick your nose in the air, dig in the spurs, and away you go! And your High Horse kicks up his heels and throws mud on your enemy as you leave that neighborhood—forever!

But getting off that High Horse is something different. Reminds me of the first and almost the only time I ever rode any horse. Somebody dared me, so I climbed aboard. My brother threw a rock, the horse ran, and the family didn't see me for hours. That pony ran for miles and miles, and just when I thought he was tired and ready to go home, a steam roller frightened him. After that second spree, a flying scrap of paper got him excited. After that a free fall right across the street behind me and that horse, and I never did get off till I fell off, and then I had to chase him for blocks before I could catch him and lead him home. Him, triumphant. Me, ashamed.

He wasn't such a High Horse, at that. Not nearly so high as the High Horse that most of us ride these days. It's quick a trick getting off those horses that we ride in such High Dungeon. But it CAN be done!

1. First, you cool off. And realize that when you're on a High Horse you're all alone.

2. Then you tell yourself that, after all, you did not make a mountain out of a molehill.

3. Then you say you're sorry, in any one of a million ways. Words rarely necessary for that. You smile. You act "regular." You tell a third party what a fine fellow your offended friend is and the third party passes your compliment along.

4. Or you ask your estranged friend to help you in some way. (It is difficult to dislike a friend who asks your advice or your help.)

5. Then you tell him you've sold your High Horse because it cost too much to keep him, or you've sent him out to pasture and won't need him any more.

6. And at last you both realize both your feet are on the ground again and you've given up riding that High Horse of yours. You are friends again.

YOUR HOBBY

Are you so engrossed with your hobby that you weary the members of your family, as well as your guests, by talking about it?

In practically all of our conversation at home, you allude to it? Not only do you devote more time to it than you should, but you neglect other work and duties you should perform, and will not allow others in the family circle to carry on any other line of thought.

It may be a worthy hobby, it may be enlightening to one really interested in it, but why try to force it upon those who do not care for it? Everybody needs a hobby as a means of relaxation.

If it is informative and remunerative, so much the better. But when a hobby becomes your master, you are letting it get to be your business and it ceases to be a hobby.

When you bore your friends and acquaintances with it you have gone too far.

It makes your mind a one track mind, prevents you from exercising personal charm which you might have if you were not so absorbed all the time.

Be a little more general in your hunt for knowledge and when you have a hobby, keep it in its place.

Let the other fellow have a chance to express himself about his hobby. (Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Fred: A column in our evening paper which I always read voiced my sentiments in an article recently.

The writer used Eugene Field as an example, who took his inheritance, which was a nice little nest egg and spent it on a trip abroad explaining to those who criticized him, that he might have lost the money, but no one could ever deprive him of his memories. That has always been my argument ever since I have reached an earning ability. I don't believe in a reckless squandering of money, that brings no returns. As I look back over my life, I honestly think I have had value received for every dollar I have spent. I have lived, and I have memories which no one can rob me of. Even though I should really become impoverished (which is not probable) I can sit down in the sunshine and take interesting trips by land and sea; I can listen again to the best talent on the operatic and dramatic stages, of my time, by simply entering my gallery of memories.

Of course I might lose my mind. But I might also have lost my money. I have had losses by trusting people whom I had thought honest. But no one can rob me of my memories. I thank God for the preservation of my mentality, not for the gain I might have hoarded, for my family to squabble over before I was reduced to dust or ashes.

Peril Of Political Fanatics Observed As Doumer Is Slain

Vigilance In Protection Of Patriots Declared Necessary Under Present Conditions In Europe, As World Voices Sympathy

The death of another President of France at the hand of a political madman wakes America's sympathy. Comment on President Doumer's assassination warns the nations that they must increase their vigilance in protecting their leaders against just such dangerous fanatics as Doumer's murderer.

"News of the assassination causes a thrill of horror throughout the civilized world," says the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, while the LONDON STATE JOURNAL holds that "Paul Doumer's sacrifice is as great as though he were a battlefield casualty." That paper adds that "his cry of disbelief and inability to understand, 'Impossible,' rings in the ears of a sorrowing world." The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL calls the dead statesman "an appealing figure to Americans" for "of his five sons he lost four in the war," and "his rise to prominence reads like a typical American story of the self-made man." The SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE is impressed by the fact that "throughout his public life he was respected for his administrative qualities and loved for his human sentiments" and feels that "the assassin who killed him robbed France of a noble leader and the world of a great man." The ROCK ISLAND ARGUS declares that "of the many who rule over the nations of the world, it is a cruel trick of fate that one of the gentlest and kindest should be slain."

Endless vigilance is the price of safety for men in high office," thinks the LONG BEACH SUN, while the DANBURY EVENING NEWS states that "the city of it is that there is no protection against the lurking killer." The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE recalls that "victims of persons afflicted with this combination of murderous mania and cynicism have included the most inoffensive and sometimes the best loved of public men."

"The most appalling feature of such assassination," declares the FORTH WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, "is the utter futility of the act and the sheer waste of human life. President Doumer was not a tyrant and had no manifestations of a mad dog. The most deplorable feature of such tragedies is the inability of the authorities to make the subsequent punishment take on any of the merit of a lesson."

"It is fortunate for the peace of Europe," in the opinion of the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, "that the White Russians have been excluded from without a country, and this crime by one of them leaves no foreign government responsible or suspect." The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS, recalling the past services of President Doumer and his patriotic songs, voices the conclusion that "the police doubtless will watch White Russians more closely, and Paris no longer may be a haven for men who favor a monarchial restoration in Russia—as it has been since the Bolshevik revolution in 1917." The ST. JOSEPH GAZETTE points out that "France is an ally of Poland," and that "to believe that France is a land of things common to the world is a ridiculous mistake."

LUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL adds that "it is not likely that the death of President Doumer will have any particularly important political significance." The BLOOMINGTON PANTAGRAPH feels that "rarely in the history of the world does a man with a dagger or a gun change the course of history." The LEXINGTON LEADER recalls that "the hand of the assassin, from the death of Caesar to the murder of Doumer, has accomplished nothing of a beneficial nature."

"It is to be hoped," advises the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL, "that investigation will prove that the deceased mind of a fanatic sole responsibility for the death is to be attributed." The SALT LAKE DESERET NEWS calls the murder "one of the senseless tragedies that hold back progress," remarking that "the French have been dominated by fear since the war, and the politics of the country is based on protection."

The News suggests that "the crazy act crystallizes fear in the hearts of President Doumer's associates."

"Perhaps the assassin is an example," thinks the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "of the extent to which insanity has been exhibited in the development of a great deal of political thought since the war. Certainly there have been too many persons whose acts have been directly in reverse of what natural reasoning would be expected to produce."

President Doumer had been in office but a short time and a French president at best usually exerts little influence in natural or international affairs, since the premier is the executive in practice. M. Doumer, however, had built up a great career in French public life and he had gained wide respect. The world already had suffered too many tragedies without having this aimless crime added to its afflictions."

"In view of the shock caused by the assassination," the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS holds that "the outcome of the recent French election is all the more notable," the Daily News emphasizing "the serious menace in the recent gains for Hitler and his extremist program in Germany." That paper is impressed by the fact that there were striking victories in France, "not for the extreme nationalists but for the parties

The city of St. Louis has suddenly discovered that it is seventy-two blocks longer than had been realized. This discovery was made by the city assessors when placing valuations on city property for tax purposes. The extra land had been taken by the Mississippi over a period of many years.

It will now be necessary to determine whether the city or adjacent property owners have title to the land. A land title company is investigating.

The city is in a judicial frame of mind regarding this point, as it will obtain additional taxes from the property owners if it does not have title to the land.

Cascade Park Opens Saturday

Extensive Improvements Have Been Made At Local Picnic Center

TO OPERATE TRAINS
DIRECT INTO PARK

Cascade park, New Castle's own noted recreation center, opens for the 1932 season next Saturday. Extensive improvements have been completed throughout the park and everything is ready for opening day, to be followed quickly by the first big day of the season, Memorial Day, when there will be a special program in honor of the bicentennial of the birth of Washington.

Cascade will be a favorite fun resort this season, not only for New Castle and Lawrence county folk, but for people from many points throughout western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, for arrangements have been made so that railroad picnics and excursions may be operated directly to the park. This will add to the popularity of the resort for thousands of persons and bring them into New Castle for the benefit of the merchants and business men of the city as well as the park itself.

Amusements Ready.
All the amusements at the park are in readiness for the crowds. The famous govt. ride, tumble bug, seaplane, old mill, dodgem, auto racer, laugh-in-the-dark, flight tutor and other fun devices as well as the midway attractions present an array of the best of amusements to be found in any park in this section of the country.

Bully Glenn's great bathing pool, with its accommodations for 5,000 bathers and swimmers, together with the launch, skiffs and canoes on Crystal lake present unequalled opportunities for all water sports.

Dancing in Rainbow Terrace will be at its best. Manager Carl L. Shaffer has engaged for the season one of the best and most popular dance bands that ever has appeared at Cascade.

Decorate Pavilion.
Rainbow Terrace has been newly decorated for the season and presents one of the most attractive and best appointed dance pavilions in western Pennsylvania.

Always a feature popular with picnickers and family groups, the children's free playground has been placed in fine shape for the opening days. Adjacent is the kiddies' own park, replete with miniature rides and amusements supplementing the free attractions. The playground will be under the capable supervision of Miss Grace McCabe with headquarters in the Red Cross cabin.

Factors in making Cascade again this year the outstanding recreation center for this entire section are the exceptional picnic facilities. Spacious pavilions, beautiful picnic grove and cookhouses with free gas and electric service make it the ideal picnic and reunion resort for people from far and near.

Spacious automobile parking facilities have been provided, ample to care for thousands of machines on the big days of the season.

Flowers Are Grown.
Cascade's own greenhouses have supplied an abundance of beautiful flowers and plants for the entire park, giving to the scores of acres of natural beauty a setting that cannot be equalled throughout this district.

Special arrangements are being made for the Washington bicentennial celebration on Memorial Day. On this occasion there will be dancing afternoon and evening in Rainbow Terrace.

"Y" BOARDS COMING.

The tribute to Mr. Jameson, which is a part of the official program follows.

New Castle is honored in that it has been selected as the convention city for the Twenty-sixth Annual Meeting of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. The honor is enhanced in that this convention is a tribute to memory of the late David Jameson, whom New Castle was proud to call its Foremost Citizen.

Were he here today, none would have been more delighted to welcome the motorists of Pennsylvania to New Castle than he. One of his chief interests in life was good roads. Back in the days when concrete was unknown and macadam was used but little on highways he was a pioneer in the cause of good roads. Three times he served as the president of the American Automobile Association, in the years 1917-18-19. He always had the interests of the New Castle Motor Club at heart.

Economists Give Hearty Approvals To Building Plans

Gigantic Federal Construction Program Endorsed By 100 Leading Economists

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 17.—More than 100 statements from leading economists, overwhelmingly endorsing a gigantic federal construction program to relieve unemployment, were presented to the Senate Monday by Senator Wagner (D) of New York, who has sponsored a billion dollar bond issue to finance such a program. He had asked a number of economists, business men and students of industrial conditions their opinion on a federal construction program.

"It is highly gratifying to find that the opinion of these economists is overwhelmingly in favor of the proposal," Wagner said.

Edward Berman, of the University of Illinois wrote: "If we could borrow many millions to fight in the war, it seems strange that we should regard it as unwise to borrow much less to help win the fight against depression."

Francis J. Boland, vice president of St. Edwards University, Texas, said he felt "absolutely sure" the proposal was economically sound.

"I am in hearty favor of your proposal and agree entirely with the argument in favor of it," wrote Elizabeth Brandeis, of the University of Wisconsin.

McBride Post To Hear Singers

Shenango High School Singers
Will Appear Before Vets
Wednesday Evening

One of the big features of the meeting Wednesday evening of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the appearance of the singers from Shenango high school, who have been making a name for themselves in musical circles.

The students, under the direction of Miss Margaret S. Hertzler, were heard over KDKA last Saturday. They sang at the recent Mother's Day banquet of the post and made such an impression that they were asked to sing again Wednesday evening.

They will put on a program at 8 o'clock, following which the regular post meeting will be held.

Final plans for Poppy Day, which will be held on Saturday, will be made by the post at this time, and all members are requested to be present.

The post will also discuss plans for Memorial Day.

Operetta At Mt. Jackson School

High School To Be Scene Of Social Gathering Friday
When Students Put On Play

An operetta entitled "Riding Down The Sky" is now in preparation under the direction of W. H. McCullough of the Mt. Jackson High school.

It is a comedy of two acts, and the beautiful scenes painted especially by Miss Adrienne Steele, enhances the splendor of this operetta.

The story has a Spanish setting, taking place at Hermosa, the capitol of Santa Belmoncia. This will be presented on Friday evening, May 20 at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

MAN PLEADS, WILL FACE JUNE COURT

Pasquale Latansi, 211 East Division street, was committed to the county jail late Monday afternoon following a hearing before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing on charges of possessing and selling liquor and the illegal possession of pointing of firearms. He entered pleas of guilty to each.

Latansi, arrested Sunday, pleaded not guilty to a charge of conducting a disorderly house.

Many Baby Animals Are Circus Feature

Playing fairy god-mother to the babies of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus menagerie is one of the roles of Miss Dorothy Johnson, petite and charming performer with the big show. Miss Johnson has been looking after a trio of Bengal tiger cubs since early spring and under her direction the little fellows are gaining much weight through a selected diet. The cubs are ideal playmates now, but in a few weeks they will become too dangerous to handle.

When the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus comes to New Castle, for afternoon and night performances on Thursday, May 26, spectators will have an opportunity to see one of the largest collections of animals in the world. Old Dr. Stork has been a frequent visitor to the Hagenbeck-Wallace menagerie and baby tigers, lions, camels, pumas, leopards and elephants are but a few of the juvenile inhabitants of the zoo. The entire performance this season has been changed and will be new from start to finish, including a beautiful and gorgeous spectacle "Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt."

Many new features and novelties have been added to the program, making it the most outstanding in the history of Hagenbeck-Wallace.

HOME IS WRECKED BY BOMB EXPLOSION

BUTLER, Pa., May 17.—A dwelling and shoe shop owned by John Malette in Boyd avenue was moved six inches on its foundation and one side of the building and porch were blown down by a blast of undetermined origin at an early hour today. Firemen fought for two hours to extinguish the fire which swept the building after the explosion. Malette, with his wife and child, left Butler Saturday for an unannounced destination and police were unable to get in touch with him. Fire Chief L. S. Zorb expressed the belief that the blast was incendiary.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TOASTED ON BOTH SIDES

Extra Crispness Just One of Many Improvements Developed for Kellogg's WHOLE
WHEAT Biscuit

In line with its policy of constant improvement, the Kellogg Company some time ago introduced a new shredded whole wheat biscuit which offers several outstanding improvements in this type of cereal.

The new Kellogg biscuit is "pressure-cooked" by a special process that retains the full food value of the whole wheat. At the same time it produces a delicious mellow flavor and makes the biscuit very easy to digest.

The biscuits are also much crispier and crunchier, for they are toasted on both top and bottom—not just one side. Incidentally they are also a new, convenient size to fit the cereal bowl without crumbling. And you get 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

As evidence of the high food value of the Kellogg biscuit, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia made a careful analysis and certify every package.

Grocers say Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are winning wide favor. Healthful and delightful for any meal. Especially good with fruits. Identify this improved food product by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Local Residents
In Auto Accident

Although no details were received, it has been learned here that W. W. Wallis, Robert Ratcliff, and W. S. Flaughter of this city, were involved in an automobile accident near Ashland, Ky., yesterday or Sunday.

The three men were in a party which left New Castle late Saturday afternoon for Willard, Ky., bearing with them the body of little Mary Lou Ratcliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ratcliff of Smithfield street, who died last week. They were taking the body to Willard for burial.

Others in the party were Mrs. Ratcliff and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Flaughter. They are expected to return home tomorrow.

Smith Is Lauded For Speech Upon U. S. Prosperity

Former Governor Al Smith, New York, Assails And Upholds Hoover In Speech

ASKS CONGRESS TO SHOW ACTION

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 17.—Approval and praise were received from all parts of the country today by former Governor Alfred E. Smith for his challenging plan of action by the Federal Government to relieve the prevailing economic situation.

Calling on congress to forget "politics and sectionalism," Smith in an outspoken radio address last night, demanded the Federal budget be balanced and urged adoption of a "manufacturers' sales tax and modification of the Volstead Act to permit legalization of light wines and beer."

Prosperity Bond Issue
As another stimulant to business and industry, Smith pressed for an extensive government public works program to be financed through a prosperity bond issue.

Drastic economies and reorganization of the Federal Government as proposed by President Hoover as one step in this direction, were urged by Smith, himself a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He declared the patriotic duty of every member of congress "from now on until adjournment to discourage and avoid all blocs, cabals, insinuations and mugwump tactics, by whatever name they may be called which bedevil legislation, increase the depression, unsettle business and endanger our credit at home and abroad."

Smith vigorously opposed a cash bonus payment to veterans. He advocated defeat of the President's plan to relieve unemployment through funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but urged congress to give Hoover "a free hand to provide aid for productive public works of states and municipalities."

Co-eds Flee As Cottage Burns At Oberlin, O.

OBERLIN, O., May 17.—With arms full of fluttering finery, twenty Oberlin College co-eds saved their clothing and men students heaved out furniture late Monday as the roof of Noble Cottage, girls' dormitory here, burst into flames which also threatened Cranford Dormitory, next door.

Water and fire damage to the house was placed at $2,000. Miss Ada Hopkins, matron of the dormitory, among the first to see smoke curling from the roof, called her girl charges who carried belongings to Cranford Dormitory.

Co-eds sighed as they watched smoke and water ruin their quarters, wrinkled brows because they didn't know where they would rest their heads tonight.

Sister co-eds at Cranford, however, took the refugees' plight to heart, offered to share rooms with them.

Special Economy Committee Makes Survey In State

Chief Aim Is To Try And Reduce Cost Of State Government Expenditures

CABINET MEMBERS COMPOSE COMMITTEE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 17.—Initial recommendations for a proposed program of economy in state government expenditures were made public today by the special committee which Gov. Gifford Pinchot named to study the budget.

The personnel of the "economy committee" had not previously been made public. It consists of Attorney General William A. Schnader, James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction, and Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue.

At the special session of the legislature a resolution was passed creating a joint legislative committee to study possible economies in state expenditures. Governor Pinchot, in vetoing the measure, charged that its real purpose was to embarrass his administration and asserted that a committee of his cabinet already was working on the same subject.

Recommendations Made.
The recommendations made public today, while promising few immediate economies, did propose studies which ultimately may bring results.

The closing suggestion was: "We recommend a thorough study of the cost of administration of state institutions and properties through departmental administrative boards and commissions with a view to ascertaining whether any such boards and commissions cannot be eliminated in the interest of economy and a better administration."

Intensify Hunt For Baby Killers; Probe Starting

Definite Clues In Slaying Of Baby Lindbergh Spur Man Hunt

BRONX GRAND JURY TO HEAR WITNESSES

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 17.—Heartened by possession of definite leads, the hunt for the Lindbergh baby kidnappers shot forward today with intensified vigor along a wide territory.

Here in New York, evidence in the case will be laid before the Bronx county grand jury by District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin.

It was in Bronx county that Dr. John P. Condon, "Jafie" Lindbergh's negotiator, paid $50,000 ransom to the leader of a gang.

Search For Vessel.
From Maine to the Bermudas, coast guard vessels today searched the seas for a known mackerel schooner identified by John Hughes Curtis, chief of the Norfolk, Va., group of negotiators, as carrying the group of ransom seekers with whom he made contact.

Capt. Randolph Ridgeley, Jr., commander of the coast guard, New York district, said he was given definite orders to find a boat painted black with a green and white cabin, a two-masted sloop rig and an auxiliary power plant of a 275-horsepower engine.

The suspected ship with the supposed kidnappers and slayers of sun-haired Charles Augustus Lindbergh aboard, was reported seen off this city as recently as two weeks ago, some time before the infant's body was found in a shallow grave four and a half miles from the Sound mountain estate near Hopewell, N. J., of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, Chief Inspector O'Brien and Inspector Henry Bruckman of the Bronx took active hold of the New York angle of the investigation.

Meanwhile, Dr. Condon, who will be the principal witness at the grand jury inquiry in the Bronx, was first to attend the police line-up at headquarters in Manhattan.

Condon's appearance at the line-up today was to follow a request for such action by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police.

It was Schwarzkopf's theory the perpetrators of the crime that rocked the world may seek to escape the tightening search for them by seeking a short commitment in jail on a minor offense.

Schwarzkopf also reported he had asked executives of all states to check up on the record of all inmates incarcerated since the night of the kidnapping, March 1.

Schwarzkopf in Charge.
Following a conference at Trenton, N. J., between Governor A. Harry Moore, New Jersey, and the police and prosecuting authorities of the state engaged on the case, Moore announced that Schwarzkopf would remain in charge of all police activities.

This was generally taken as a full answer by the governor to many criticisms leveled at the state police head since the kidnapping.

Prosecutor Erwin Marshall of Mercer county, where the child's body was discovered accidentally last week, was named to take over the prosecution end of the Lindbergh case.

Moore also asked Schwarzkopf to communicate with J. Edgar Hoover, head of the bureau of investigation in Washington, who, at the president's direction, is in charge of the federal forces cooperating in the man hunt.

Fernan Caballero was the pseudonym of Cecilia Bohl von Faber, Spanish novelist.

Another News classified ad has clicked. Mrs. Robert Paul Sawatzke of Neshannock boulevard inserted an ad in the last column last evening for a cream colored glove, and shortly after the paper was off the press a young man delivered the glove, having seen it drop out of the auto in which Mrs. Sawatzke was riding and waited until The News was out to find the owner. It pays to use The News classified column, and Mrs. Sawatzke is one of the firm boosters of The News.

P. O. TENANTS GET RIGHT TO REMAIN ON SQUARE LONGER

Tenants on the city's new post office property on the public square may remain on the land on a month-to-month basis, and the recent 30-day notice given them to vacate has been set aside, it was learned today in a communication from Washington.

Congressman J. Howard Swick protested the ejection acting upon learning that plans for the new building will not be ready for several months. He saw no reason to ask tenants to vacate.

Can You Do It?
A photograph showing a person performing a stunt, possibly a high jump or a similar athletic feat.

When Lefty Gomez blanked Cleveland yesterday, 8 to 0, the Yankees tied one American league record and almost equalled another, so today they will be shooting at two league marks.

Gomez in Shape.
Gomez was the fourth successive New York hurler to wield the white-wash brush, duplicating similar performances by Allen, Pincus and Ruffing. This equalled the American league mark of four consecutive shutouts set by Cleveland in 1903 and tied by the Red Sox in 1906, when the feat last was performed in the junior loop.

The Yanks have held their opponents scoreless for 40 consecutive innings, only one less than the league mark set by the hurling corps of the 1903 Cleveland outfit. The 1903 Pittsburgh club holds the National league shutout records of six consecutive whitewashings and 56 successive horse colars for the opposition, so the Yanks have some distance to go to beat the all-time major league mark.

Gray Allows 3 Hits.
Sam Gray of the St. Louis Browns flashed even better pitching, holding Washington to three hits, gaining a 2 to 0 decision over Professor Monte Weaver and tumbling the Senators into second place.

Two other hurlers were feeling their oats. Red Lucas of the Reds held the Giants to three hits, one a homer by Len Koencke, and won 6 to 2. Van Mungo, youthful Brooklyn pitcher, held Pittsburgh to four blows and triumphed 11 to 1, the Dodgers finishing in a cloud of base hits by scoring eight runs in the ninth.

Brooklyn took sixth place in the National league, passing New York. Detroit landed on Cain and De-shong, two of Connie Mack's rookie boxmen, for five runs in the fourth inning and won 6 to 4 behind Vic Sorrell's steady hurling. The Tigers tied Cleveland for third place in the junior loop.

Jolley Homers.
Ted Lyons hurled the White Sox to a 4 to 3 win over Boston in ten innings, despite two home runs by Jolley Homers.

George Washington
No. 80. The First President At HomeTHE FIRST PRESIDENTIAL RESIDENCE,
PEARL AND CHERRY
STREETS, NEW YORK.

ON BECOMING THE FIRST PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (1789), WASHINGTON HAD TO WRESTLE WITH MANY PROBLEMS OF PROCEDURE AND ETIQUETTE FOR WHICH THERE WAS NO PRECEDENT. "I WALK ON UNTRODDEN GROUND," HE SAID.

FOR INSTANCE THERE WAS THE QUESTION OF HOW TO ADDRESS THE PRESIDENT. "YOUR MAJESTY" AND "YOUR HIGHNESS" WERE SUGGESTED, BUT WASHINGTON REJECTED ALL HIGH-SOUNDING TITLES AND MADE PLAIN "MR. PRESIDENT" THE RULE.

HE BELIEVED A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF POMP AND CEREMONY NECESSARY TO MAINTAIN THE DIGNITY OF THE PRESIDENCY. HE AND HIS WIFE GAVE MANY ELABORATE RECEPTIONS AND "LEVEES" AND RODE ABOUT IN A YELLOW COACH OF STATE.

TO BALANCE THIS FORMALITY AND MAGNIFICENCE, WASHINGTON HELD INFORMAL RECEPTIONS ONCE A WEEK TO WHICH ANYONE COULD COME.

BRONX GRAND JURY
STARTS HEARING ON RANSOM SWINDLE

former boxer who aided "Jasfale," was also present.

It is said Colonel Lindbergh himself may appear later.
The inquiry will concern itself with the payment of the ransom note, not with the murder of the child, which took place in New Jersey and is outside of the jurisdiction of the authorities here.

The action is regarded as important because there are many who believe the murderers and receivers of the money are the same.

Coast Guard Active.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Coast guard cutters were sweeping the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Norfolk today in a renewed search for the mystery vessel supposed to have carried the Lindbergh kidnapers.

All cutter, destroyer and patrol boat commanders had instructions to seize the ship and bring it to port.
Its description was radioed to the coast guard craft.

Officials here said that if a vessel of the description actually exists it is almost certain to be captured by the coast guard provided it remains within 25 miles of the coast.

The length of the kidnaper ship was given as approximately 80 feet, beam not known and draft of nine feet. The vessel had a simple Gloucester rig, six-foot bow sprit, dark green hull, two spars painted buff, a trunk cabin aft, side cabin house freeboard aft, 250 horsepower engine and a square tank boat. The craft was about ten years old. It had a crew of five men.

The coast guard radio said that the ship may carry the following name plates:
Evelyn Batten, Theresa, Salva-
tor, William A. Morse and Ella Brissan.

The ship was last seen off Cape May about two weeks ago, according to coast guard information. The coast guard was without knowledge as to the registration of the vessel.

Fleischer in Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, May 17.—Harry Fleischer, Detroit gangster, wanted for questioning in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, is reported to be in the vicinity of Monterey, Mexico. Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, telegraphed police headquarters here today.

A general alarm was sent out immediately following receipt of Col.
Schwarzkopf's message and military and police officials in the Monterey district were enlisted in the search.

May Offer Huge Reward.

TRENTON, N. J., May 17.—The sovereign state of New Jersey, stung by criticism directed against it because of the ineffectual efforts of its law enforcement agencies to apprehend the kidnapers and murderers of the Lindbergh baby, is ready to go to any length to bring the criminals to justice.

It was learned today that Col.
Lindbergh is to be asked to waive any objections to the offer of a reward of $100,000 for the capture of the criminals.

Soon after the kidnaping took place the New Jersey senate wanted to offer a large reward but Col.
Lindbergh, fearing that such a step might result in harm to his child, dissuaded the authorities from announcing a reward. Now that such an obstacle no longer exists it is thought that Lindbergh will agree to the state itself offering a reward to anyone furnishing information which will bring the kidnapers and murderers within reach of the law.

The conference held yesterday and presided over by Governor A. Harry Moore discussed the question of a reward and the governor suggested that a figure of $100,000 be set. It was agreed that Col. Lindbergh's permission be first obtained.

Inventor Army Shows Brain Children

Whistling Egg Saucepans; Crooner Silencers and Non-Skid Soap Among 5,000 Inventions Displayed at New York Exposition.

NEW LIFE PRESERVER

DEVICES TO HELP THE HOUSEWIFE

Progress took another step forward with the opening of the International Patent Exposition at New York, when an army of inventors from every corner of the earth displayed their ideas for making life easier for humanity. Some of the models on display are intentionally funny, such as the anti-crooning device, guaranteed to eliminate the voice with the sob. There is the saucepan that whistles when the eggs are into the resonant ones of a robust vocalist. This gadget changes the dulcet tones of the would-be crooner into the resonant ones of a robust vocalist. A bedridden old lady comes from all walks of life, actors, laborers, business men, mechanics and convicts. A bedridden old lady exhibits a new sort of baseball game, and a cattleman from Brooklyn, N. Y., is the proud inventor of a non-skid soap. After a tour of the exposition, one comes away with the belief that there is nothing left to invent, unless it is some device for the elimination of the annoying job of putting out the cat.

Work Expanded

The Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania railroad of which the Erie & Ashtabula unit forms an important part, gave assistance last year to more than 21,000 families and expended for relief upward of $275,000, and increase of 60 percent over the preceding year, according to the aid's annual report issued today.

Increasing unemployment during 1931 was held responsible for the constantly growing demands by Mrs.
W. W. Atterbury, wife of the Pennsylvania's president and director general of the organization.
The annual report shows that exceptional work was done by these women about Christmas time, according to the report, which shows that during the holiday season nearly 8,000 families were visited and more than 6,500 baskets distributed.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Gradually the northeast corner of Mill and Washington Street is being cleared and in a few days the old building that stood there for so many years will be gone. And with it passes a landmark that is one of the things we can remember as a very small boy.

When the old building was built, construction wasn't what it is today. Steel beams were uncommon, and the brick used in it were not the neat package of clay you get today from the average brick plant. Its construction design was rather cery but year after year it stood there until the fire demon ruined it.

Now they are tearing it down brick by brick and in a few weeks a modern building will replace the old landmark. The new building won't have the history or tradition in it that the old one did, but it will have better building materials.

The advance guard of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation will begin trickling in tonight. Sam Lewis who runs the highway department of the state, and Ben Eynon whose name is on your driver's license are expected in. Delegates from the east and north and southwestern end of the state will get in tonight, and by tomorrow noon the convention will be in full blast.

For the past week Barney Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor Club has been in a fog of details concerning the convention. Requests for road information have been delegated to the young lady who acts as his assistant. As the day approaches for the opening of the convention there are ninety seven things to do at once and the closest the time, the more detail.

The Castleton Hotel is filled with reservations and for a few days business around the hotel will resemble a Florida hotel during the halcyon days of the land boom down there. And the young gentleman who answer bells up there are already figuring on some ice cream suits as the result of the largest of the delegates.

At least they are hoping. One of the bell boys in the Castleton insists that all big men do not tip well. One he cites, whose name is known to every Pennsylvanian has been in the hotel twice in the past year or so and the bell boy claims his total tips have reached 13 cents. Probably figuring on making three trips for a quarter.

ACCUSED SLAYER

IS NOT INSANE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 17.—Albert Williams, under indictment for first degree murder in the killing of Gabriel Carroll, gasoline station attendant in a 13-cent hold-up last summer, is not insane, officials of the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, reported to Mahoning county authorities today. This ruling means that Williams must return here and face trial for the murder. Victor Miller, who was charged with first degree murder for having driven the car which Williams is said to have used in the hold-up, was acquitted a few months ago.

CARBON VICTIM IS

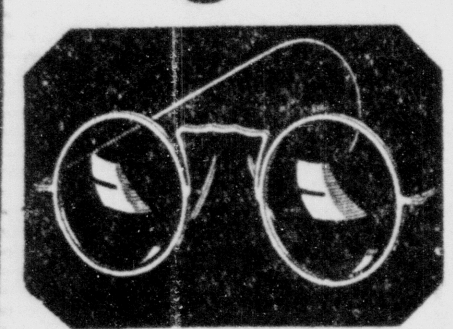

SAVED BY FIREMEN

BEAVER, Pa., May 17.—Unconscious for more than two hours from inhaling carbon monoxide fumes, H. B. Carroll, 45, owes his life to the efforts of Beaver firemen and the life-saving crew of the Duquesne Light Company.

Carroll was found unconscious at the wheel of his automobile in the garage early today by his two sons, Clark, 19, and Gordon, 16, who went to the garage to discover why the father had not driven away to his work as usual. It is believed Carroll after starting the engine had plugged the motor.

Interest Shown In Travel Club

When More Members Join Library Club Plans Will Be Made For First Meeting

Many local youngsters are taking out memberships to the Travel club of the Mahoningtown library. Boys and girls may call at the library, sign their names and commence the reading of ten books from a list of recommended travel stories.

Meetings will be held at various times. Until the membership has increased there will be no meetings, but in a couple weeks everything will probably be in readiness for the starting of actual activities.

When members complete the reading of ten books they are given a small pamphlet "passport."

Similar clubs have been organized at the main library and at its other branches.

SWIMMING PARTY

Mahoning river was the setting for one of the first swimming parties of the year Sunday. A group of eight or ten local young men and women took their first swim of the season here and reported the water to be "just right."

Observations In 7th Ward

A stretch of ground in the West Clayton street vicinity will be plowed for garden purposes this summer, according to announcement by Louis Genkinger.

Among the souvenirs which they brought home from Arizona, several local people, who spent a large part of the winter there, have samples of petrified wood. Petrified wood is a hard, marble substance and is something seen seldom in this part of the country. It is quite pretty when polished.

Party Given For Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Coates, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Coates, Mrs. Bessie Pitzer and Miss Maxine Pitzer, of seventh ward, and Mr. and Mrs.
Lester Smith, of Court street, attended a Silver Wedding anniversary party at Jamestown, Pa., Sunday.

The event marked the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Hans, of Greenville. Misses Edna and Leta Hans, sisters of Dr. Hans, were hostesses of the occasion. It was a surprise occasion for the honor guests.

Twenty-five friends and relatives had gathered and enjoyed the afternoon together.

ST. MARGARET'S

A party will be held in Lyceum hall, corner of Second and Clayton streets Thursday evening May 19.
The following committees will be in charge: cards, Mrs. S. J. Cushman, Mrs. Mary Jones; door, Steve Cushion; cloak, William Cushman; and bingo, Miss Mary Jones.
